

Amendments to the Specification

Paragraphs 0001, 0008, 0014, 0023, 0059, 0074, 0081, and 0085 of the specification have been amended at the suggestion of the Examiner to correct various typographical errors. With the exception of the change made to paragraph 0054, the modifications that are offered supra are the same as those requested by the Examiner. None of these amendments is substantive and, as such, none constitutes new matter and should be entered.

In the case of paragraph 0054, the examiner indicated that the language used by applicants in lines 3-4 is "vaguely worded". Even though applicant believes that the original language was clear as-presented the passage complained-of has been rewritten in an effort to remove any suggestion that the language is ambiguous. Since this revision is not substantive, it does not constitute new matter and should be entered.